

The TOEIC® tests — helping organizations worldwide build English skills for 30 years

ETS is proud to announce the 30th anniversary of the TOEIC® test

Since the first TOEIC Listening and Reading test was administered in Japan in 1979, the TOEIC test has become the global standard for measuring workplace English skills.

Give your organization a competitive advantage

The TOEIC tests can help your organization compete in today's global economy:

- Save time and money. Select the right person for the right position and develop the most effective training programs.
- Improve efficiency and accuracy. Your staff's ability to communicate in English can be key to succeeding in the global marketplace.
- Enhance your global reputation. Attract and retain the best-qualified candidates, as well as fill positions overseas.

Find out why more than 9,000 companies, government agencies and English-language learning programs in more than 90 countries use TOEIC test scores to recruit and hire the best-qualified candidates, place and promote employees, and develop effective training programs.
